MARCH 14, noon at de Anza Country Club is the date of the next luncheon. Local metal sculpture artist, John Richen, will explain how a chance enrollment in a class on sculpture changed the course of his professional life. Working out of his Borrego Springs studio, John creates abstract pieces of metal art that are at once strong and graceful. He says that he doesn't see metal as hard and cold, but soft, gentle and delicate. His work has been described as fluid and reflective. John has a playful side to his creativity and enjoys introducing a little bit of humor into his work once in awhile. Please join us to learn more about this talented Borrego Springs artist.

The February luncheon was aglow with special Valentine's Day decorations, enhanced by a vision of bright red and pink outfits worn by attendees to celebrate the day. Huge chocolate covered strawberries adorned each table, and I noticed none were left over! Guest speaker, Terri Zumstein, wowed the crowd as she passed around a selected variety of coffee table books and children's stories that she had designed and printed for customers. Terri invited Art Guilders to contact her to assist in producing their very own unique coffee table books, or customized gift books, for grandchildren and other family members.

The 2013 officers were sworn in by last year's Member of the Year, Carol Lindemulder. Officers are Kathy Johnston, President, Cathy Westover, Vice President, Camille Rothenberg, Secretary and Anne Wermers, Treasurer. We pulled a fast one on Beth Hart by surprising her with 2013 Member of the Year award. A standing ovation confirmed the wisdom of this choice. Bonnie and Stuart Resor were acknowledged for all they have done for the Art Guild from appearing one year as Elvis and another as Santa, to serving as the library art display coordinators. Past presidents honored were Diana Cronhardt and Martha Mitchell.
